4 About the Country

Egypt is probably the world's oldest civilization having emerged from the Nile Valley around 3,100 years ago, historically.

Egypt is probably one of the oldest vacation spots. Early Greeks, Romans and others went there just for fun, and to see the wonders of some of mankind's earliest triumphs.

But Egypt is much more than Pyramids and monuments; it is also scuba diving, hot night spots, luxury hotels and five star restaurants. It is romantic cruises down the Nile on festive river boats, a night at the grand opera and it is a cultural experience like none you have ever experienced. Egypt is a land bustling with life, sound, visual beauty and excitement

Geography:

Egypt is located in the northeastern corner of Africa. Rectangular in shape, it covers an area of 386,000 square miles. To the West lie the Western Desert and Libya, and a desert plateau, Red Sea and Sinai, borders the East. The Sudan is on Egypt's southern border and to the North lies the Mediterranean. Only about 4 to 5 percent of the vast country is inhabited along the banks of the Nile. Below Cairo, the Nile fans out in two main branches - Rosetta on the West and Damietta on the East. Egypt can be divided into the following parts:

The Eastern Desert: including the plateau extending from the Nile Valley to the Red Sea, and The Sinai which includes Mount Catherine, Egypt's highest mountain, reaching 8,668 feet.

The Western Desert: about 68 percent of the country's total territory. It extends from the Nile Valley to the Libyan borders, and from the Mediterranean coast to the Sudan.

The Nile Valley: Egypt's main inhabited area. This fertile valley is a strip 7 to 9 miles wide along the Nile and some 6,000 square miles in the Nile Delta. The Nile's total length in Egypt is about 900 miles.

Population

70,712,345 (July 2002 est.)

Major Religions

Approximately 85 percent of the population of Egypt is Moslems. Most of the balances, about 9 million, are Christian Orthodox who belongs to the Coptic Church. In most cities in Egypt, mosques and churches can be found next to each other. There are also some synagogues since a small Jewish community still lives in Egypt.

Language

Arabic is Egypt's official language. However, most Egyptians understand and speak English and French. In larger towns, the foreign visitors will encounter no difficulty in communicating with the people.

Currency:

The basic unit of currency is the Egyptian pound (EGP) divided into 100 piasters, with banknotes of: 25, 50 (piasters), 1, 5, 10, 20, 50, 100 & 200 (EGP), and coins of 1.00 EGP and 50, 20, 10 & 5 piasters. Exchange rate for your reference as 25th Aug 09 > 1 Euro = 7.98 EGP

Hurghada

Hurghada is about halfway down the Egyptian coast of the Red Sea, 600 km south of Cairo. This small fishing village was the base of operations in the 50's for the American biologist Eugenie Clark, whose studies were major contributions to scientific research into the sea and to a better understanding of the Red Sea in particular.

In recent times the village of Hurghada has developed into a large town providing all necessary facilities: banks, post offices, restaurants, stores and taxis and lots of entertainment go to www.hurghada.com

El Gouna

El Gouna is about halfway down the Egyptian coast of the Red Sea, 500 km south of Cairo and 25 km north of Hurghada. This new up-market resort area is a very peaceful area compared to Hurghada. The whole area was artificially built to fit up-scale residential areas, resort, shopping areas, a marina and an airport for private planes.

Famous architects designed all buildings on Nubian-Arabesque style over an area covered by mangroves; the whole area is environmental friendly with strict rules.

El Gouna houses a full hospital with the biggest recompression chamber in the Red Sea area and their own transportation system with vans, bus, taxis and boats.

More information on www.elgouna.com

About the Red Sea

The Red Sea is the tropical sea closest to Europe, and it is therefore considered the ideal destination and choice diving area for Old World divers, both in the winter months, when the waters of the Mediterranean become too cold, and in spring and summer months, despite the African heat that bears down upon the waves.

With a maximum depth of 3,040 meters, the Red Sea is a surprisingly deep body of water, when considering its width, which was formed 20 million years ago. The length of the Red Sea is 2,253 Kilometres and, with a surface area of 450,000 square kilometres, it is about the size of Italy, Switzerland and Austria put together. Very clear Waters with a high salinity and a relatively high and stable temperature, ranging from 20 to 30 centigrade, assure ideal conditions for the growth of corals, fish and other marine life.

The deep rift valley that forms the Red Sea results in steep shorelines with deep and clear waters, affording the growth of coral reefs only a few meters from the shore.

5. Euro-Divers Dive Centers in Egypt

Euro Divers runs two full dive centers in Egypt: Euro-Divers Club Med El Gouna and Grand Hotel Hurghada, plus one point of sale representation at the Siva Grand Beach.

While Euro-Divers El Gouna is dedicated mainly to French speaking guests, the ones in Hurghada are dedicated mainly to German speaking guests.

You will have the chance to visit and know the operation details of both of them but your training will be accordingly to your mother tongue.

Euro-Divers Grand Hotel: This center is a PADI 5* IDC Centre situated directly on the beach at the Grand Hotel Hurghada which is a 4 star hotel with 750 rooms, 4 kilometers from the Hurghada airport. We have a direct access to a private beach and jetty known as Marina 5. Grand Hotel, Grand Resort and the Siva Grand Beach are Egyptian owned and fall under the Red Sea Hotels Group (www.redseahotels.com).

Euro-Divers Club Med El Gouna: This center is a PADI 5* IDC Centre located directly on the beach with its own private jetty. Orascom Hotel Developments owns the hotel built in the 80's, which Club Méditerranée manages since 2004. It has 250 rooms and operates on a total all-inclusive system. For more information visit (www.clubmed.com)

In all dive centers, we speak English, including our local staff in charge of handling the equipment and filling the tanks.

The team of instructors and dive masters can vary between 6 -12 people and a nice mix of cultural diversity between Egyptian, Belgian, Dutch, Swiss, Italian and German.

Our daily schedule goes from 07.30 to 17:30 daily, exceptions on early morning trips and night dives. At this moment we use about 35 dive sites at each center, only 1/3 of those are the same for both centers, being El Gouna less busy on the dive sites than Hurghada.

Boat trips to the dive sites take between 45 to 90 minutes on our fleet of eight 22 to 28 meters boats shared in between Hurghada & El Gouna.

All of our centers operate with Luxfer Aluminum tanks, suits are locally produced by Maya and are made as a two-piece 5mm, and all other equipment is by Aqualung.

We also provide Nitrox for free through our NRC membrane system; divers, which are not nitrox divers, can attend courses with us. Internship candidates are allowed to dive Nitrox as long as they are certified to do so. Certification as a Nitrox diver is part of the internship program.
